

Oleg Klodt and Anna Agapova, the duo behind O&A London, are known for taking an experimental approach to design. Now they bring that aesthetic to their showroom in London's Chelsea Harbour, where visitors can view the duo's furniture collection. O&A London, Design Centre Chelsea Harbour, London SW10 (020 3514 8795; oa-london.com).

The Portuguese brand Frato prides itself on creativity and craftsmanship, as well as its rich heritage and reputation for luxury. That artistry is displayed in its highly adaptable contemporary furniture, which offers endless possibilities for customisation. Frato, Design Centre Chelsea Harbour, London SW10 (020 7590 3004; frato-interiors.com).

Savoir Beds has collaborated with designer Bill Amberg to create two beds made out of leather, 'Sky' and 'Ocean'. Both designs are unmistakably modern and represent a wholehearted celebration of British craftsmanship and innovation. Savoir Beds, Design Centre Chelsea Harbour, London SW10 (020 7352 0302; savoirbeds.com).

network

Sophia Salaman chooses the best merchandise and events worldwide

Artist Joana Vasconcelos, whose work draws on the artisanal traditions of her native Portugal, has reinterpreted six pieces from the Roche Bobois furniture collection for the 'A Arte de Viver' line. Its chairs, cocktail tables and sofa will be exhibited at Art Basel Miami before being auctioned; the proceeds go to her eponymous foundation. Visit roche-bobois.com.

Stephen Cavallo uses centuries-old techniques to create bespoke mirrored panelling and cast-glass mouldings. Seen here is a recent project, the Venetian Powder Room, the design of which incorporates colours from an antique Persian chair. Stephen Cavallo, 320 East 95th St, New York, NY 10128 (001 212 288 5050; mirrorfair.com). ▷